Tying the Knot...Seahawks Style

Kirkland, Wash.—Jill Stayboldt and Todd Buillon are Seattle Seahawks season ticket holders and die-hard fans. On Friday, December 30 they will celebrate their love for the team and each other by becoming husband and wife in the West Club Lounge at Qwest Field.

The wedding will feature a football theme.

Before Jill makes her way down the turf isle to meet Todd underneath a goal post and exchange their vows, the roughly 185 guests will be introduced to the bridal party by an announcer and a spotlight while music plays.

The star-spangled banner will kick things off before the pastor (a former USC football player) leads the ceremony.

Fisher Helps Sack Cancer

Kirkland, Wash.—Seattle Seahawks defensive end Bryce Fisher is helping fight cancer by donating $1,000 to Gilda's Club every time he gets to the quarterback.

Fisher's contributions don't end there. He has also purchased 11 season tickets that are used by the Gilda's Club of Seattle every home game, and he visits with the attendees afterwards. He also regularly visits the Club to play with children in NoogieLand.

Fisher's affiliation with the Club began when his mother was diagnosed with breast cancer in March of last year.

For more information on Gilda's Club visit www.gildasclub.org.

Backs Bring Some Cheer

Kirkland, Wash.—Seattle Seahawks running backs Shaun Alexander and Mack Strong joined in a holiday event sponsored by Antioch Bible Church at Kirkland Heights on Tuesday, December 20.

Shaun speaks to the crowd.

Alexander and Strong distributed presents, signed autographs, posed for pictures and wished everyone a wonderful holiday season.

Mack gets swarmed by children.

Travel with the Seahawks

Seattle, Wash.—Seattle Seahawks fans have two chances to join Seahawks players and coaches on vacation this off-season.

In March, join kicker Josh Brown and other Seahawks players and coaches on an exclusive New Zealand Tour for Seahawks fans. The trip is scheduled for March 2-12, 2006.

Then from May 21-28,

2006, join Seahawks players and coaches on a cruise to Alaska aboard Holland America Line's MS Westerdam.

The cruise will visit the great ports of Juneau, Sitka, Ketchikan and Victoria B.C.
